

BookPage

Discover your next great book

www.bookpage.com

BookPage is a monthly book review publication that provides recommendations for casual readers and book-lovers alike. The print edition is available on the second floor in the adult new books reading area at the Cumberland Public Library. Searching and browsing is also available on their website.

LibraryThing

What's on your bookshelf?

www.librarything.com

LibraryThing is a community for readers, managed by librarians. Search for authors and titles and get both user and LT staff recommendations for books. Like GoodReads and Shelfari, this is also an online book-lovers community, but browsing without an account is free.

Please feel free to contact the Reference staff if you have any questions!

Looking for a good book?

Check out these free resources to find the perfect book for you!

NoveList provides title, author, and series “read-alikes” to recommended books to users. Available at the library, or log on from home by mousing over the “Entertainment & Research” tab, click on “Find Your Next Read” from the menu and click on “NoveList.” Then type in your card number to access.

NextReads, produced by NoveList, publishes free newsletters that provide brief summaries of books from both fiction and non-fiction genres. These can be accessed from the Cumberland Library website under the “NextReads Newsletter” link, from there you can sign up to have them sent directly to your email!

www.goodreads.com

GoodReads is the largest site for book recommendations in the world! Their mission is to help readers find books they will love. Search or browse for books, by title author or genre and find reader reviews and recommendations. Though you can join the GoodReads community for free, signing up is not required.

www.shelfari.com

Shelfari is a global book community, created by Amazon, where users can share their passion for books! Discover new titles from users with similar reading tastes, browse genres, or get recommendations based on title and author searches. You can sign in with your Amazon.com account for a personalized experience, or browse independently.
